

Realtime Education & Training Services (HLTAID001) Provide Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation

Introduction

Realtime Education & Training Services is a Registered Training Organisation (TOD 41036) registered with the Australian Skills Quality Authority. RETS is proud to offer the “HLTAID001 - Provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation” training course. This program provides participants with skills and knowledge required to provide emergency CPR response to casualty at workplace or in a community setting. If CPR certificate is a requirement of your workplace or your current CPR certificate is expired or expiring soon, this is the course for you.

Program outline

Training is delivered in a classroom environment. Participants are required to attend one training session only. Participants are given a booklet that is required to be read before the training session. Training is delivered using multimedia tools for example power point slides and DVDs. Participants also perform various roles plays to simulate an emergency situation. Participants are given opportunity to ask questions about the assessment processes.

At least 5 participants are required to run the class. In case if the desired class size is not achieved, classes are postponed until 5 participants have confirmed enrolment. Participants are advised of the this change (classes are postponed) in the training sessions and are offered 100% refund of the fees paid if booklets are returned, if they need to complete the training by a certain deadline.

Assessment requirements

The assessment is conducted using a combination of demonstration of CPR skills during different simulated emergency scenarios, and knowledge tests. The following provides a brief explanation of the assessment methods that are to be applied:

Knowledge Test. The participants are required to undertake a written knowledge test and multiple-choice questions. The test will be provided to the participants by the assessor at the end of the session and the participants will be required to individually complete the test.

Demonstration / Role-Play. The participants are required to demonstrate a range of whilst being observed by, or interacting with, the assessor. These activities will be clearly explained and always relate to duties relevant to the emergency situations. These activities allow the assessor to observe the participants apply their knowledge and skills during practical activity. Role - Plays are conducted after the knowledge test.
